VICTORY FOR BRITISH

Kitchener Carries Out a Successful Attack on the Boers.

LATTER LOSS HEAVY

Over Six Hundred Were Killed or Captured and Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Wagons, Arms and Ammunition Were Also Taken.

London, March 1.—Following the precedent of Lord Roberts, who announced General Cronje's surrender at Paardeburg on the anniversary of the battle of Majuba Hill (Feb. 27, 1881), Lord Kitchener apparently selected the same anniversary to achieve a big success by a combined movement, lasting two days, against the Boer forces within the Harrismith and Van Rieën line of blockhouses. The Boer losses aggregate 600 men killed or captured, 2000 horses and 25,000 head of cattle fell into the hands of the British troops.

This news was so welcome to the British that it was read out in the house of commons Friday by the war secretary, Mr. Broderick.

The dispatch of Lord Kitchener is as follows:

"Harrismith, Feb. 28.—Yesterday the combined operations of the columns terminated in driving the Boers against the Harrismith and Von Rieën blockhouse line. The river Wilge was held by the Leinster regiment and Elliott's mounted infantrymen from Harrismith, while the columns formed on the Frankfort and Botha's pass blockhouse line and advanced south, holding the entire country between the Wilge and the Natal frontier.

"In the first night a severe attempt to break through was made at a point between Remington's and Byng's columns and the New Zealanders behaved with great gallantry. The fighting was at close quarters and the Boers as usual, drove a large herd of cattle in front of them. Manie Botha, the Boer leader, was killed and 35 dead Boers were found on the ground. Over 100 horses were killed and 6000 head of cattle were left in our hands. Other small attempts to break out were made and in two cases succeeded. On the last day 450 Boers, with rifles and horses, were captured.

"All the columns have not yet reported and the operations have been very wide, but over 600 Boers have been either killed or are prisoners in our hands; also 2000 horses, 28,000 head of cattle, 200 wagons, 60,000 sheep, 600 rifles and 50,000 rounds of ammunition. The prisoners include General De Wet's son and his secretary, Commandants Meyer and Truher, and several field cornets. These satisfactory results are very appropriate today on the anniversary of Majuba Hill."

A Blow at Jackboro.

Jackboro, Tex., March 1.—A dark, heavy cloud gathered southwest of Jackboro Thursday and seemed to be rolling in the air. Just as it got over the fair grounds it appeared to dip, and blew down the grand stand and bounced to the oil mill, a quarter of a mile away, and came down again, taking the roof and tearing it to shreds. Then it bounded about 500 yards and took off the top of T. N. Brown's gin house and lifted a house off its foundation near by. Three hundred yards further it took away the sheds and fence of a wagon yard. It then seemed to rise and burst in the air. No one was hurt, and the damage to property will not amount to more than $1000 or $1500. There was a slight shower.

Charles Woodall Captured.

Marlin, Tex., March 1.—Charles Woodall, the white man who is charged with having killed Charles Hackberry, a negro, at Lott, this county, on Wednesday, was caught on a creek about six miles from Lott. The man came out of the creek bottom and went to a well in a field to get a drink of water, when a deputy sheriff, who was riding over the field in search of him, saw him. Woodall was brought to Marlin and is now in jail.

Congressman Wooten Injured.

Dallas, March 1.—Congressman Dudley G. Wooten and ex-State Representative J. W. Gill were injured in a runaway which occurred between Garland and Sachse, this county, Friday afternoon. Mr. Wooten's clothes were torn to tatters and he was severely bruised, while Mr. Gill was thrown to the ground with such force as to render him unconscious for a time.

Commissioner Stevens Injured.

Griffin, Ga., March 1.—In the wreck here Friday Hon. O. B. Stevens, commissioner of agriculture of Georgia, had his back badly wrenched; right knee bruised and suffering greatly from the shock and exposure. Clifton Jones of the Southern railway was badly bruised and Conductor J. H. Kendall was wounded on head and cheek; not serious.

Shooting at Dallas.

Dallas, March 1.—Peter Tellison was shot in the left shoulder Friday night at the McLeod hotel building. 125 weapon used was a pistol and the bullet tore away a portion of the lapel of his coat and blew it clear through the shoulder. It was picked out near the shoulder blade. The wound is an ugly one and may result seriously. Officer Berry and Fanning made an arrest.

Abandoned Charleston Trip.

Washington, March 1.—It can be regarded as practically an assured fact that the president will find it impossible to make his proposed and already once abandoned trip to Charleston exposition.

BUILDING COLLAPSED.

Four-Story House Gives Way and Buries a Number of Girls in Debris.

Cleveland, O., March 1.—A floor collapsed in the building occupied by the Cleveland Baking company here. It is reported a number of persons were killed. The top floor of the building, which is four stories high, collapsed and went clear through to the ground floor. Ten people were on the floor, and they went down in the debris. They are still in the ruins, and whether all are dead is as yet unknown. The fire department was called and the firemen are now at work trying to rescue the victims. The victims are all girls, it is said. A number of girls on the third floor were saved, being carried down a ladder from the windows. Shortly before noon six girls were taken from the ruins and removed to the hospital. It is not believed their injuries will prove fatal. At least two, and perhaps three or four persons, are still buried in the debris.

A SCAFFOLD FALLS.

Two Men Are Killed and a Number Believed in the Debris.

Philadelphia, March 1.—A scaffold used in the erection of an addition to the Fidelity Trust company's building on Chestnut street collapsed. Two workmen are known to have been killed and three taken to the hospital seriously injured. Others are believed to be buried under the ruins. Loss of life at this time is only conjectured. Chestnut street at this point is a largely traveled thoroughfare and the possibilities are that a number of pedestrians may have been caught under the falling scaffold.

BIRTHPLACE OF LINCOLN.

It Is to Be Sold by a Sheriff in Kentucky for Taxes.

Hodgenville, Ky., March 1.—The birthplace of Abraham Lincoln, near Hodgenville, is advertised at sheriff's sale for taxes. A few years ago the place promised to be a property upon which the government would spend thousands of dollars, but it was bought by a company of eastern capitalists with the intention of making it a public park. This scheme fell through when the cabin in which Lincoln was born was carried to Central park, New York city. The place has been uncared for and has gradually gone down until its value is not more than enough to meet the taxes on it.

Charles White Exonerated.

London, March 1.—Charles L. White, the American arrested in New Zealand for murder, where he was lodged in jail several months ago, has sailed on the St. Paul on his way back to New Zealand. White's vindication and the repatriation made to him by the British government came too late, however, for that member of his family who followed his trial with keenest interest, his aged mother, who died on Wednesday. The British government paid White $300 and tickets for the whole route of his return trip were sent him through the American embassy.

Southern Pacific Withdraws.

Chicago, March 1.—Notice of withdrawal from membership in the Southwestern Passenger bureau has been filed by the Southern Pacific road. The reason given is the expense in maintaining the bureau since the withdrawal of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas road a short time ago. Railway officials say the fate of the bureau seems to be sealed, and an early dissolution is predicted.

To Destroy Derelicts.

New York, March 1.—Steps have been taken by the government to rid the sea of derelicts, those dangerous menaces to navigation which are now so thickly strewn along the Atlantic seaboard. The cruiser Cincinnati has been directed to proceed to Newport, R. I., there to take on a supply of mines and then to cruise along the coast and blow up every derelict that can be found.

Largest Deposit Ever Known.

Chicago, Ill., March 1.—The national banks in Chicago hold larger amounts in deposit at the present than they ever showed before in their published statements. The 12 principal national institutions in the city making reports in response to a call of the comptroller of the currency for statements of their condition at the close of business Feb. 25 showed total deposits of $280,534,000, an increase of $23,000,000.

Railway Employees Granted Increase.

WHY?

Because their way of doing business is to do it by wholesale. TWO big markets—15 men employed all the while catering to the wants of fastidious trade educated to eat good meats and no other. We have the facilities and intend to keep the trade by always selling the best at the lowest prices it can be bought for. We buy Wool, Hides, Pelts at highest market price.

Fancy prices make the things they eat better. This is a very erroneous and expensive notion. Fancy prices are often the result of high rents, clerk hire, etc. If your grocery bill is too large it will pay you to examine our stock of groceries and the low prices we make on them. They are fresh, pure and wholesome. They please our old customers and if you will let us send a trial order we will please you.

KILLED BY AN ENGINE.

Mr. A. P. Wilson Run Over and Crushed
at Hempstead.

City Marshal T. P. Boyett received
the shocking news yesterday afternoon that his son-in-law, Mr. A. P.
Wilson, head brakeman with Conductor Jim Turner's freight crew on the H. & T. C., was run over and horribly mangled by an engine while
switching in the yards at Hempstead
yesterday. It is said that Mr. Wilson's foot caught in a frog and he
was run over by the engine before
he could extricate it. Mr. Wilson
was on the way home to Houston
and passed through Bryan yesterday
morning. He was married to Miss Mozelle Boyett of this city about a year ago. He was about 26 years old
and was one of the most trustworthy,
promising and popular young railroad men in the service of the H.
& T. C. Mr. and Mrs. Boyett left for
Hempstead on the afternoon train.

Madisonville Matters.

From the Meteor.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Allphin left
for Bryan yesterday, where they will make their future home. Many friends join the Meteor in wishing
Mr. and Mrs. Allphin success.

While on his way home from Bryan yesterday, where he had
sold fifteen bales of cotton, John Darter of Neal was attacked at a point about fifteen miles from Madisonville by three men, whose
purpose is supposed to be robbery.
Mr. Darter was in his buggy; he fought them off and escaped, but
was bruised up considerably. No
clue to the parties.

While all the papers in our neighboring counties have for the past two years had much to say on
the subject of truck growing, the Meteor has been silent on the question, not because we haven't suitable soil for the business, but because we haven't the necessary
transportation facilities. We are anxious to truck farm, and just as soon as the "iron horse" gets here
—which, from present indications,
will be soon—what the Meteor will
have to say on the truck farming
subject will be a plenty, and what Madison county soil will produce
will be a plenty, too.

THE SENATORS CENSURED

Incident Closed as to McLaurin, but Tillman Makes Another Break.

Washington, March 1.—Senators Mc-Laurin and Tillman have been severely censured by the United States senate for the sensational personal encounter between the two senators on the floor of the senate on Washington's birthday. The adoption of the resolution of censure closes the incident so far as Mr. McLaurin and the senate is concerned, but not with Mr. Tillman.

Immediately after the senate convened Friday Mr. Burrows, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, to which the McLaurin-Tillman controversy had been referred,
reported the resolution of censure framed by a majority of the committee. Accompanying the resolution was a report setting out the conclusions of the majority.

A brief statement was presented by Senators Bailey, Blackburn, Pettus, M.
J. Foster and Dubois, Democratic members of the committee, dissenting from some of the conclusions of the majority. They agreed, however, to the resolution offered.

A minority report was presented by Senators McComas, Beveridge and Pritchard, Republicans, who maintained that the adoption of a resolution of censure was not sufficient punishment.

Practically there was no debate on the resolution, although Mr. Gallin-ger and Mr. Platt of Connecticut made evident, by brief statements, that the resolution was not quite satisfactory to them. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 54 to 12.

When Mr. Tillman's name was called,
he added a new sensation by rising and saying, with ill-concealed emotion:

"Among gentlemen an apology for an offense committed under heat of blood is usually considered sufficient."

The senators caught their breath as Mr. Tillman thus entered his protest against the adoption of the resolution.
Mr. Tillman's words induced Mr. Kean of New Jersey to rise at the conclusion of the roll and say:

"Having heard the gentleman from South Carolina again insult the senate,
I change my vote from aye to nay."

At the request of Mr. Burrows the statement of Mr. Tillman was read by the clerk. Instantly the South Carolian disclaimed any intention of being offensive to the senate, and said that if his remarks were so considered he would withdraw them.

The chair (Mr. Frye) said that by unanimous consent they might be withdrawn, but Mr. Dietrich of Nebraska objected. The incident was closed without further comment.

The senate adopted the conference report of the permanent census bureau bill and then began consideration of the irrigation measure. Mr. Clark of Wyoming delivered a speech in its support. For a time later the senate considered the omnibus claims bill, but did not dispose of it.

The house Friday broke all its records in the matter of private pension legislation, clearing the calendar and passing 159 bills in a little over three hours.

The conference report on the census bill was adopted and the house adjourned until Monday.

wind, accompanied by rain, visited this place Thursday night. The wind tore down several outbuildings in town. In the northeastern part of town a building about 16x28 feet was blown to pieces and the roof carried 200 feet or more into a field. A large number of trees were blown down, but no person or livestock is reported hurt.
The rain, although not heavy, did much good and restored a degree of hope to the people in this part of the state, who have been suffering for water.

A Physician Suicides.

Lubbock, Tex., March 1.—Dr. William E. Wheelock killed himself here with a shotgun. He loaded a double-barreled shotgun with buckshot and placed the muzzle in his mouth pulled the trigger. The entire front of his head was blown away, leaving only the lower jaw and about half the back part of the skull. Dr. Wheelock recently suffered serious financial losses in California, which, it is said, preyed on him greatly.

A Farmer Ejected.

South McAlester, I. T., March 1.—
Capt. J. W. Ellis, chief of the Indian police, evicted S. W. Webster of Braden, I. T., from the Choctaw nation
Thursday, landing him at Fort Smith, Ark. Webster was a farmer and had refused to pay a permit to the Choctaw nation, for which refusal to comply with the law he was ordered to be deported from the Choctaw nation by the United States Indian agent.

Burglar Wrecks a Safe.

Italy, Tex., March 1.—Burglars wrecked the safe in R. C. Mitchell's

KILLED BY AN ENGINE.

Mr. A. P. Wilson Run Over and Crushed
at Hempstead.

City Marshal T. P. Boyett received
the shocking news yesterday afternoon that his son-in-law, Mr. A. P.
Wilson, head brakeman with Conductor Jim Turner's freight crew on
the H. & T. C., was run over and
horribly mangled by an engine while
switching in the yards at Hempstead
yesterday. It is said that Mr. Wilson's foot caught in a frog and he
was run over by the engine before
he could extricate it. Mr. Wilson
was on the way home to Houston
and passed through Bryan yesterday
morning. He was married to Miss Mozelle Boyett of this city about a year ago. He was about 26 years old
and was one of the most trustworthy,
promising and popular young rail-
road men in the service of the H.
& T. C. Mr. and Mrs. Boyett left for
Hempstead on the afternoon train.

Madisonville Matters.

From the Meteor.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Allphin left
for Bryan yesterday, where they will make their future home. Many friends join the Meteor in wishing
Mr. and Mrs. Allphin success.

While on his way home from
Bryan yesterday, where he had
sold fifteen bales of cotton, John
Darter of Neal was attacked at a point about fifteen miles from Madisonville by three men, whose
purpose is supposed to be robbery.
Mr. Darter was in his buggy; he fought them off and escaped, but
was bruised up considerably. No
clue to the parties.

While all the papers in our
neighboring counties have for the past two years had much to say on
the subject of truck growing, the Meteor has been silent on the question, not because we haven't suitable soil for the business, but because we haven't the necessary
transportation facilities. We are anxious to truck farm, and just as
soon as the "iron horse" gets here
—which, from present indications,
will be soon—what the Meteor will
have to say on the truck farming
subject will be a plenty, and what Madisonville soil will produce
will be a plenty, too.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC BONDS

Mr. Harriman Proposes to Take up Some Sixty-Nine Million Soon.

San Francisco, March 1.—When President Harriman of the Southern Pacific arrives in this city it is stated papers providing for a new railroad corporation will be ready for his signature. It is understood that the purpose of the proposed new corporation is to refund $69,000,000 of Southern Pacific securities and simplify the methods of bookkeeping. Southern Pacific has three distinct companies operating its main line between San Francisco and El Paso, in addition to a number of branch roads. They are the Southern Pacific Railroad of California, Southern Pacific of Arizona, and Southern Pacific of New Mexico. These companies, it is alleged, are to be merged into a new corporation and to be formed under the laws of this state. They have an aggregate bond issue of $69,000,000 maturing in two or three years. It is understood the new corporation will take over the property of the three Southern Pacific companies and assume all their assets and liabilities, so their stock and bonds may be retired and the companies discontinued.

Announced Cut at Huntington Mines May Cause Miners to Stop Work.

Fort Smith, March 1.—According to unofficial reports from Huntington Friday there is serious trouble brewing there, and another clash between the Kansas and Texas Coal company and its employees seems imminent. Announcement is made that the scale for mining coal would be cut from 90c to 80c a ton, and the miners are indignant and threaten to strike if the order is enforced. The disaffection involves about 1000 men and the probabilities of a struggle are good. Kansas and Texas company, it is said, signed the recent scale agreement with ill-grace and the announced cut is not a great surprise.

Spanish Miners Disorderly.

Madrid, March 1.—The mining regions are in a ferment of agitation. At Albuja and Madridejos, rioters have set fire to the Octorol offices and burned the documents they contained. There has been another outbreak of disorder at Barcelona. Meetings are held frequently with the object of declaring another general strike. The metal workers are constantly assaulting their comrades who have returned to work, and refuse to resume their tasks until all the imprisoned workmen are released.

Fish Dying by Thousands.

Vinita, I. T., March 1.—There are thousands of dead fish above and below Fort Gibson—tons of them, the like of which was never seen before. People living along the Canadian river have been feeding their hogs on them for two weeks. There are nearly all kinds and sizes, from six inches in length to the monster catfish of 100 pounds weight or over.

Boer Casualties Growing.

London, March 1.—Kitchener reports the Boer casualties during the recent operations amounted to 800 men killed or captured. Gen. DeWet's son, who is among the prisoners, was his father's secretary.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC BONDS

Mr. Harriman Proposes to Take up Some Sixty-Nine Million Soon.

San Francisco, March 1.—When President Harriman of the Southern Pacific arrives in this city it is stated papers providing for a new railroad corporation will be ready for his signature. It is understood that the purpose of the proposed new corporation is to refund $69,000,000 of Southern Pacific securities and simplify the methods of bookkeeping. Southern Pacific has three distinct companies operating its main line between San Francisco and El Paso, in addition to a number of branch roads. They are the Southern Pacific Railroad of California, Southern Pacific of Arizona, and Southern Pacific of New Mexico. These companies, it is alleged, are to be merged into a new corporation and to be formed under the laws of this state. They have an aggregate bond issue of $69,000,000 maturing in two or three years. It is understood the new corporation will take over the property of the three Southern Pacific companies and assume all their assets and liabilities, so their stock and bonds may be retired and the companies disincorporated.

NEARING TOP NOTCH

Allegheny River Almost at Highest Stage Known.

DAMAGE IS GREAT.

Scores of Mills Have Closed and Hundreds Forced to Abandon Their Homes—The Flood in Southern States Receding.

Pittsburg, March 1.—Western Pennsylvania is in the grip of one of the worst floods since the record-breaker of 1884, when the Allegheny river at this point reached a stage of 33 feet 3 inches, and two-thirds of lower Pittsburg and Allegheny was submerged in from two to ten feet of water, causing $1,000,000 worth of damage. At 9 o'clock this morning marks showed 30 feet of water and rising at the rate of 5 to 6 inches an hour. Street car traffic between the two cities has been entirely abandoned. Scores of mills have been forced to close down and hundreds of families compelled to move from their homes. At least a 32-foot stage is expected here, and predictions were made that it will reach 35 feet unless there is a sudden change in the weather. This will be the highest water ever known, and damage cannot be approximated.

Philadelphia, March 1.—What is believed to have been the greatest flood ever experienced along the Schuylkill river, certainly the most disastrous in recent years, tore its way down that stream Friday night, and from source to mouth, 120 miles, damage that will reach into hundreds of thousands of dollars has been done. Thus far only one life has been lost in this city. Michael Igo was drowned in the kitchen of his home at the falls of the Schuylkill. The height of the flood has been reached. Communication by telegraph and telephone with the upper part of the river were cut off, and information as to conditions in towns situated on the river banks is meager.

Flood Situation Improved.

Atlanta, March 1.—Floods in rivers of Georgia, Alabama, North Carolina and Tennessee, caused by unprecedented rains of last Thursday, have abated somewhat and train service of railroads to the east and southwest, which was almost paralyzed, is improving slowly. The damage done is tremendous.

Again Repudiates Tillman's Action.

Charleston, S. C., March 1.—Supplementary to the resolution passed by the exposition board of directors Friday night renewing the invitation to President Roosevelt to visit Charleston and also disclaiming any responsibility and sympathy for Lieutenant Governor Tillman's action in regard to the presentation of a sword to Major Jenkins, the city council has passed resolutions repealing the invitation already extended by the city and appointed a special committee to present the resolutions to President Roosevelt and express to him the earnest desire of the people of Charleston that he visit the city.

Successor of Treasurer Cave.

Houston, March 1.—The board of directors of the Houston and Texas Central railroad have elected as secretary and treasurer to succeed Major E. W. Cave, who retires after 2 years' service, W. H. Field, treasurer of the San Antonio and Aransas Pass railroad. E. C. Tarrant has been elected treasurer of the San Antonio and Aransas Pass railroad to succeed Mr. Field. Mr. Hayden Smith will succeed Mr. Tarrant as paymaster of the San Antonio and Aransas Pass.

Lives Lost in the Avalanche.

Telluride, Colo., March 1.—The number of lives lost in the four avalanches that swept down the sides of Smugler mountain Friday is now estimated at 20 to 25. Fourteen men are known to have been killed, unknown number buried under the snow, and 12 badly injured are in the hospital, while several other men hurt are at their homes. It is believed few, if any, bodies can be recovered until the snow melts.

Murdered in Philippines.

Cumberland, Wis., March 1.—A message from Congressman Jenkins confirms the report that John R. Hegg of this city was murdered by Filipinos on Bohol Island, Jan. 20. Hegg was a graduate of the Cumberland schools and state university, and was superintendent of construction of government roads in the Philippines.

Thanks from Stone Family.

Boston, March 1.—In recognition of the great sympathy shown for Miss Ellen M. Stone, the missionary to Bulgaria, who has just been released from captivity, her mother and brothers have issued a letter of thanks to friends known and unknown, who have in any way aided in her release.

Kidnaped by the Servant.

Montreal, March 1.—Much excitement prevails at Montreal over a mysterious kidnapping of Edgar Wayland, the 2-year-old son of E. J. Wayland, manager of a large boot and shoe firm, is believed to have been carried off by a servant girl, who called herself Audrey Earle. No trace can be found of the pair.

Bishop Potter Denounces Prohibition.

New York, March 1.—Speaking on the Sunday question before the Out-look club of Mont Clair, N. J., Bishop Potter of New York made a plea for the saloon and denounced prohibition as futile.

Earl of Perth Dead.

London, March 1.—The death is announced of George Drummond, the earl of Perth. He was born in 1807.

NAPOLEON IN BATTLE

BRILLIANT DEEDS AND MASTERLY STRATEGY IN WAR.

At the Bridge of Lodi—Destruction of the Mamelukes in Egypt—Austerlitz—The Campaign of Jena—Waterloo.

(Copyright, 1902, by G. L. Kilmer.)

there was not the result of accident or rashness.

When the little republican army of France set out in 1796 to crush the Austrian power in Italy, the odds were two to one in favor of the Austrian allies. Napoleon himself was on trial. After passing the Alps by rare strategy he found himself approaching two strong Austrian armies separated only by the distance between Mantua and Milan and having the shorter line for marching to a junction. To beat the Milan army before it could be re-enforced was the French problem; to keep the French on the higher side of the river Adda the Austrian problem. A strong bridge 200 feet in length was the key to both problems.

A battery of fourteen Austrian cannon—so say some accounts, others thirty—was planted on the farther side to play upon the structure, and to support these there was a line of troops 6,000 strong. After driving the Austrian rear guard out of the town Napoleon placed artillery on the heights in the rear of the bridge and bombarded the Austrians. The Austrians in turn bombarded Lodi to drive out the French. "We must cross, let it cost what it may," said Napoleon.

A solid storming column of 4,000 grenadiers was massed near the head of the bridge, with a battalion of 300 carabineers, or light infantry, in front. The ranks were so arranged that at the word "Forward!" the leading sections could wheel from the cover of the rampart wall, cross the shot ridden space around the gateway at a single spring and then make the run along the causeway to the Austrian side quite free from danger. Napoleon went among the troops and spoke encouraging words. It was the contrast between his slight figure and the massive grenadiers who stood in the front ranks that suggested the name of "Little Corporal."

Drums beat the signal "Forward!" The foremost assaults moved from behind the ramparts, wheeled under the terrible hail of grape and canister and attempted to pass the gateway of the bridge. The front rank went down like a row of grain stalks before the reaper, the column staggered and reeled backward, and the valiant grenadiers were appalled by the task before them. To crown all, Napoleon placed himself at their head, and his aids and generals—Cervoni, Dalmagne, Berthier, Massena and Lannes—rushed to his side. Forward again, this time over the heaps of dead bodies that choked the passage, and a quick run, counted by seconds only, carried the column over the 200 yards of clear space, scarcely a shot from the Austrians taking effect, except at the point where the platoons wheeled to take the first leap. The Austrian artilleryists abandoned the guns instantly, and, without halting at the front line, the charging grenadiers rushed up the hill to attack the second. This, too, gave way, and within a few minutes after the French landed on the Austrian bank of the river the entire army of the allies was running to the rear.

At the battle of the pyramids Napoleon again carried all before him by boldness. The Egyptian cannon were in his pathway at the crossing of the Nile, and he saw that they were in stationary rests and could only fire straight ahead. Forming his line to march up on the flank and avoid the fire, his columns ran upon the Mameluke cavalry of Murad Bey. Napoleon allowed the fierce horsemen to ride within half pistol shot before opening fire. Meanwhile he harangued his legions to stand fast. To the division in front of the pyramids he exclaimed, "Soldiers, from yon lofty summits forty centuries look down upon you." The squares stood the shock like invincibles, and at a swoop the finest body of horseback riders ever seen upon earth was destroyed. Viewing the wrecks of that once mighty host, Napoleon exclaimed, "Could I have united the Mameluke horse to my French infantry I could have reckoned myself master of the world."

But Marengo in 1800 was the test battle of Napoleon's career. What Shiloh was to Grant Marengo was to Napoleon. Shiloh was saved by the opportune arrival of a division of support when all seemed lost; so, too, Marengo. Had Shiloh ended as at one moment seemed probable Grant would have dropped into obscurity, and the same with Napoleon had Marengo gone against him.

On the morning of June 14, 1800, Napoleon's army was at the gates of Alessandria, all except the division of Desaix that had been dispatched to Novi to head off the Austrian column of Melas on the south. Two divisions of French, 9,000 strong, under Victor, 5,000 under Lannes, and Murat's cavalry, 3,700 strong, covered Marengo. A cavalry brigade under Kellerman charged the Austrians and was repulsed, and the Austrians in a countercharge carried Marengo, putting the French to rout all along the line. Napoleon led in the Old Guard of 800 sabers, but the imperial cavalry crushed them. A division of reserves, also led up by Napoleon, was driven back, and in the parlance of the field, "all was lost."

Meanwhile Desaix had reached the scene and was on the direct road along which the Austrians were marching. A vineyard and a cornfield hid his men from the Austrian view, and they came within 200 paces and halted. Napoleon galloped to the spot and ordered an attack, at the same time sending Kellerman with 600 horse upon the Austrian flank. Both attacks were so bold that the Austrians turned and fled. The French followed the flying foe to the river, opposite Alessandria, and cut them down without mercy. At nightfall Napoleon was master of Marengo and of all Italy.

Napoleon showed at his best as a soldier and a leader in the campaign of Austerlitz. When he gave the order to march to the frontier, 180,000 men came at his call. In a brilliant but bloody campaign of twenty days he destroyed an Austrian army of 80,000. The weather was stormy and cold. Napoleon was omnipresent in the camps, and among the columns on the march, animating the soldiers to withstand the fatigue and cold and hunger. On the field of Austerlitz the antagonists were French flanks at once, virtually stripping their center on the heights of Pratzen of infantry and trusting to their guns to hold them. Napoleon asked Soult how long it would take the French infantry in the valley to reach the heights of Pratzen. "Twenty minutes, sire. Shall I go forward?" "No; wait twenty minutes. When the enemy is making a false move, never interrupt him."

The order was given to Soult at 9 o'clock. His soldiers were compelled to climb a steep hill to reach the tableland under the cannon crowned heights. The combat was fearful. Across the wide plain the artillery fire swept the advancing lines. The assault was a surprise, and the outer lines of the allied cavalry gave way in confusion, followed by the impetuous French cavalry on the left of Soult's column. Napoleon led the cavalry in person, and, becoming excited, put in his last reserves. Meanwhile the infantry under Soult stormed the last line on the heights of Pratzen and burst among the guns. The hull in the firing caused the battle smoke to roll away, and as the shock of cannonading had already dislodged the mist the veil which all the morning had obscured the orb of day was rent apart. Then it was that Napoleon saw and greeted "the sun of Austerlitz."

Napoleon's masterpiece of strategy was in the campaign of 1806, when he fell upon the proud Prussian kingdom with a blow that brought the monarchy of Frederick the Great under the vassalage of a new Charlemagne. Marching rapidly upon Berlin, he found the road blocked at Jena by Prince Hohenlohe with 60,000 men. The Prussians were on the plains behind the heights of Landgrafenburg, which were so steep as to be deemed impassable. Discovering a pathway up the steep side, Napoleon cut a road in one night and massed upon a rock 40,000 soldiers, with their cannon. Under cover of a fog Lannes thrust forward his division. The cannonade scattered the fog, disclosing to Hohenlohe 90,000 French against his 60,000. Lannes was checked for a time and also Augereau, Soult and Ney. At 10 o'clock Napoleon sent in Murat's cavalry and the imperial guard. Square after square of the stout Prussian column was broken, the lines routed, and 15,000 dead and wounded lay on the field. Napoleon put his force in pursuit, driving the enemy in an opposite direction from Berlin, which then lay at his mercy.

Waterloo, on the French side, was Napoleon's from start to finish, all but the luck. The plan was to get between Wellington and Blucher and use them up piecemeal. He got between them and narrowly missed destroying Blucher at Ligny. Had he done so, there would have been no Waterloo. A corps that caused the delay of a corps robbed Napoleon of triumph at Ligny, and Grouchy's failure to keep Blucher and Wellington's aid at Waterloo was the last blow. All day, while struggling to dislodge Wellington from Hougoumont and La Haye Sainte, Napoleon was compelled to fight Grouchy's battle off on the right and in the end to cope with two armies at once. Twice Ney's column pierced Wellington's line, but the reserves which should have clinched the business were absent standing off Blucher. Finally Blucher's leading corps struck the wavering French at La Haye Sainte, and the last die was cast for Napoleon on the field of Waterloo. GEORGE L. KILMER.

WOMEN AND JEWELS.

Jewels, candy, flowers, man—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even the greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get all of Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at the Wilson-Jenkins Drug store, Bryan. NEARING TOP NOTCH

Allegheny River Almost at Highest Stage Known.

DAMAGE IS GREAT.

Scores of Mills Have Closed and Hundreds Forced to Abandon Their Homes—The Flood in Southern States Receding.

Pittsburg, March 1.—Western Pennsylvania is in the grip of one of the worst floods since the record-breaker of 1884, when the Allegheny river at this point reached a stage of 33 feet 3 inches, and two-thirds of lower Pittsburg and Allegheny was submerged in from two to ten feet of water, causing $1,000,000 worth of damage. At 9 o'clock this morning marks showed 30 feet of water and rising at the rate of 5 to 6 inches an hour. Street car traffic between the two cities has been entirely abandoned. Scores of mills have been forced to close down and hundreds of families compelled to move from their homes. At least a 32-foot stage is expected here, and predictions were made that it will reach 35 feet unless there is a sudden change in the weather. This will be the highest water ever known, and damage cannot be approximated.

Philadelphia, March 1.—What is believed to have been the greatest flood ever experienced along the Schuylkill river, certainly the most disastrous in recent years, tore its way down that stream Friday night, and from source to mouth, 120 miles, damage that will reach into hundreds of thousands of dollars has been done. Thus far only one life has been lost in this city. Michael Igo was drowned in the kitchen of his home at the falls of the Schuylkill. The height of the flood has been reached. Communication by telegraph and telephone with the upper part of the river were cut off, and information as to conditions in towns situated on the river banks is meager.

Flood Situation Improved.

Atlanta, March 1.—Floods in rivers of Georgia, Alabama, North Carolina and Tennessee, caused by unprecedented rains of last Thursday, have abated somewhat and train service of railroads to the east and southwest, which was almost paralyzed, is improving slowly. The damage done is tremendous.

Again Repudiates Tillman's Action.

Charleston, S. C., March 1.—Supplementary to the resolution passed by the exposition board of directors Friday night renewing the invitation to President Roosevelt to visit Charleston and also disclaiming any responsibility and sympathy for Lieutenant Governor Tillman's action in regard to the presentation of a sword to Major Jenkins, the city council has passed resolutions repealing the invitation already extended by the city and appointed a special committee to present the resolutions to President Roosevelt and express to him the earnest desire of the people of Charleston that he visit the city.

Successor of Treasurer Cave.

Houston, March 1.—The board of directors of the Houston and Texas Central railroad have elected as secretary and treasurer to succeed Major E. W. Cave, who retires after 2 years' service, W. H. Field, treasurer of the San Antonio and Aransas Pass railroad. E. C. Tarrant has been elected treasurer of the San Antonio and Aransas Pass railroad to succeed Mr. Field. Mr. Hayden Smith will succeed Mr. Tarrant as paymaster of the San Antonio and Aransas Pass.

Lives Lost in the Avalanche.

Telluride, Colo., March 1.—The number of lives lost in the four avalanches that swept down the sides of Smoglar mountain Friday is now estimated at 20 to 25. Fourteen men are known to have been killed, unknown number buried under the snow, and 12 badly injured are in the hospital, while several other men hurt are at their homes. It is believed few, if any, bodies can be recovered until the snow melts.

Murdered in Philippines.

Cumberland, Wis., March 1.—A message from Congressman Jenkins confirms the report that John R. Hegg of this city was murdered by Filipinos on Bohol Island, Jan. 20. Hegg was a graduate of the Cumberland schools and state university, and was superintendent of construction of government roads in the Philippines.

Thanks from Stone Family.

Boston, March 1.—In recognition of the great sympathy shown for Miss Ellen M. Stone, the missionary to Bulgaria, who has just been released from captivity, her mother and brothers have issued a letter of thanks to friends known and unknown, who have in any way aided in her release.

Kidnaped by the Servant.

Montreal, March 1.—Much excitement prevails at Montreal over a mysterious kidnaping. Edgar Wayland, the 2-year-old son of E. J. Wayland, manager of a large boot and shoe firm, is believed to have been carried off by a servant girl, who called herself Audley Earle. No trace can be found of the pair.

Bishop Potter Denounces Prohibition.

New York, March 1.—Speaking on the Sunday question before the Outlook club of Mont Clair, N. J., Bishop Potter of New York made a plea for the saloon and denounced prohibition as futile.

Earl of Perth Dead.

London, March 1.—The death is announced of George Drummond, the Earl of Perth. He was born in 1807.

NAPOLEON IN BATTLE

BRILLIANT DEEDS AND MASTERLY STRATEGY IN WAR.

At the Bridge of Lodi—Destruction of the Mamelukes in Egypt—Austerlitz—The Campaign of Jena—Waterloo.

[Copyright, 1902, by G. L. Kilmer.]

there was not the result of accident or rashness.

When the little republican army of France set out in 1796 to crush the Austrian power in Italy, the odds were two to one in favor of the Austrian allies. Napoleon himself was on trial. After passing the Alps by rare strategy he found himself approaching two strong Austrian armies separated only by the distance between Mantua and Milan and having the shorter line for marching to a junction. To beat the Milan army before it could be re-enforced was the French problem; to keep the French on the higher side of the river Adda the Austrian problem. A strong bridge 200 feet in length was the key to both problems.

A battery of fourteen Austrian cannon—so say some accounts, others thirty—was planted on the farther side to play upon the structure, and to support these there was a line of troops 6,000 strong. After driving the Austrian rear guard out of the town Napoleon placed artillery on the heights in the rear of the bridge and bombarded the Austrians. The Austrians in turn bombarded Lodi to drive out the French. "We must cross, let it cost what it may," said Napoleon.

A solid storming column of 4,000 grenadiers was massed near the head of the bridge, with a battalion of 300 carabineers, or light infantry, in front. The ranks were the exact width of the bridge and were so arranged that at the word "Forward!" the leading sections could wheel from the cover of the rampart wall, cross the shot ridden space around the gateway at a single spring and then make the run along the causeway to the Austrian side quite free from danger. Napoleon went among the troops and spoke encouraging words. It was the contrast between his slight figure and the massive grenadiers who stood in the front ranks that suggested the name of "Little Corporal."

Drums beat the signal "Forward!" The foremost assailants moved from behind the ramparts, wheeled under the terrible hail of grape and canister and attempted to pass the gateway of the bridge. The front rank went down like a row of grain stalks before the reaper, the column staggered and reeled backward, and the valiant grenadiers were appalled by the task before them. To crown all, Napoleon placed himself at their head, and his aids and generals—Cervoni, Dallemagne, Berthier, Massena and Lannes—rushed to his side. Forward again, this time over the heaps of dead bodies that choked the passage, and a quick run, counted by seconds only, carried the column over the 200 yards of clear space, scarcely a shot from the Austrians taking effect, except at the point where the platoons wheeled to take the first leap. The Austrian artilleryists abandoned the guns instantly, and, without halting at the front line, the charging grenadiers rushed up the hill to attack the second. This, too, gave way, and within a few minutes after the French landed on the Austrian bank of the river the entire army of the allies was running to the rear.

At the battle of the pyramids Napoleon again carried all before him by boldness. The Egyptian cannon were in his pathway at the crossing of the Nile, and he saw that they were in stationary rests and could only fire straight ahead. Forming his line to march up on the flank and avoid the fire, his columns ran upon the Mameluke cavalry of Murad Bey. Napoleon allowed the fierce horsemen to ride within half pistol shot before opening fire. Meanwhile he harangued his legions to stand fast. To the division in front of the pyramids he exclaimed, "Soldiers, from your lofty summits forty centuries look down upon you." The squares stood the shock like invincibles, and at a swoop the finest body of horseback riders ever seen upon earth was destroyed. Viewing the wrecks of that once mighty host, Napoleon exclaimed, "Could I have united the Mameluke horse to my French infantry I could have reckoned myself master of the world."

But Marengo in 1800 was the test battle of Napoleon's career. What Shiloh was to Grant Marengo was to Napoleon. Shiloh was saved by the opportune arrival of a division of supports when all seemed lost; so, too, Marengo. Had Shiloh ended as at one moment seemed probable Grant would have dropped into obscurity, and the same with Napoleon had Marengo gone against him.

On the morning of June 14, 1800, Napoleon's army was at the gates of Alessandria, all except the division of Desaix that had been dispatched to Novi to head off the Austrian column of Melas on the south. Two divisions of French, 9,000 strong, under Victor, 5,000 under Lannes, and Murat's cavalry, 3,700 strong, covered Marengo. A cavalry brigade under Kellerman charged the Austrians and was repulsed, and the Austrians in a countercharge carried Marengo, putting the French to rout all along the line. Napoleon led in the Old Guard of 800 sabers, but the imperial cavalry crushed them. A division of reserves, also led up by Napoleon, was driven back, and in the parance of the field, "all was lost."

Meanwhile Desaix had reached the scene and was on the direct road along which the Austrians were marching. A vineyard and a cornfield hid his men from the Austrian view, and they came within 200 paces and halted. Napoleon galloped to the spot and ordered an attack, at the same time sending Kellerman with 600 horse upon the Austrian flank. Both attacks were so bold that the Austrians turned and fled. The French followed the flying foe to the river, opposite Alessandria, and cut them down without mercy. At nightfall Napoleon was master of Marengo and of all Italy.

Napoleon showed at his best as a soldier and a leader in the campaign of Austerlitz. When he gave the order to march to the frontier, 180,000 men came at his call. In a brilliant but bloody campaign of twenty days he destroyed an Austrian army of 80,000. The weather was stormy and cold. Napoleon was omnipresent in the camps and among the columns on the march, animating the soldiers to withstand the fatigue and cold and hunger. On the field of Austerlitz the antagonists were 80,000 a side. The allies attacked both French flanks at once, virtually stripping their center on the heights of Pratzen of infantry and trusting to their guns to hold them. Napoleon asked Soult how long it would take the French infantry in the valley to reach the heights of Pratzen. "Twenty minutes, sire. Shall I go forward?" "No; wait twenty minutes. When the enemy is making a false move, never interrupt him."

The order was given to Soult at 9 o'clock. His soldiers were compelled to climb a steep hill to reach the tableland under the cannon crowned heights. The combat was fearful. Across the wide plain the artillery fire swept the advancing lines. The assault was a surprise, and the outer lines of the allied cavalry gave way in confusion, followed by the impetuous French cavalry on the left of Soult's column. Napoleon led the cavalry in person and, becoming excited, put in his last reserves. Meanwhile the infantry under Soult stormed the last line on the heights of Pratzen and burst among the guns. The roll in the firing caused the battle smoke to roll away, and as the shock of cannonading had already dislodged the mist the veil which all the morning had obscured the orb of day was rent apart. Then it was that Napoleon saw and greeted "the sun of Austerlitz."

NAPOLEON AT THE PYRAMIDS.
